Instructions –

1. Fold one of the white cards in half to form card base.
2. Cut a piece measuring 10cm by 14.5cm. Put remainder aside for later.
3. Ink blending tool with Tattered Rose and blend over the surface of this piece.
4. Ink blending tool with Aged mahogany and blend over edges.
5. Heat set, ensuring the ink is dry.

6. Stamp the clock stamp centre left and the flourish on either side with the embossing ink. Pour embossing powder over and heat set.
7. Once cooled, continue to ink with the Aged Mahogany and the blending tool leaving the centre a lighter colour.
8. Ink the edges with the Walnut stain ink and the blending tool.
9. Cover with a piece of newsprint and iron over the top to absorb the embossing residue.
10. Stamp 'Once upon a time' onto the bottom half of the remaining white card using the Jet black ink. Crop it out of the card.
11. Round the corners on the left edge with the corner punch then ink the edges using blending tool and Walnut stain.
12. Matt with remaining white cardstock.
13. Punch a hole in the centre left side to create a tag effect and thread ribbon through the hole.
14. Adhere everything to the card base as shown in the photo and add a diamante to the left centre of the 'O'.
